

JOB DESCRIPTION

Post Title: RESIDENT NON-TEACHING BOARDING HOUSE TUTOR

Responsible to: Head of House in the performance of in-House supervisory duties and co-curricular activities/Deputy Head of House

The role of a Resident Non-Teaching Boarding House Tutor will include extra-curricular activities and other aspects of pastoral care within the stipulated 45 hour duty time when it is anticipated that it will be necessary to have an involvement in such activities. However, delivering pastoral care is a key part of your duties and the ad hoc nature of its provision means that the reference to 45 hours for such duties is a guide and not a limit.

A Resident Non-Teaching Boarding House Tutor is provided accommodation for the better performance of his/her duties by the School, either in a boarding house or otherwise. They are expected to be in residence 48 hours before the commencement the school term

The Resident Non-Teaching Boarding House Tutor shall assist the designated Head of House in the routine operation of the boarding house and be responsible for the good order and discipline of the house at all times when on duty. S/he shall take an interest in the welfare and progress of all the students in the house and support the house as appropriate in house activities, house competitions and the like.

S/he will play an active in the pastoral care of the pupils through structured and unstructured contact with them. Given the differing needs of our pupils this requirement cannot be met solely through structured activities and you will be required to be available to deal with pupils who have questions or concerns at any reasonable time of the day or night subject to the wider rules of the School concerning meeting with pupils at suitable times and locations. Your provision of such ad hoc care will be considered as part of your annual appraisal.

The Resident Non-Teaching Boarding House Tutor shall ensure their duties are carried out in line with the guidance in the Boarding Staff Handbook, School policies and procedures and in a manner which conforms to the National Minimum Standards for Boarding.

All employees and volunteers are required to comply with the relevant legislation and guidance in relation to working with and the protection and safeguarding of children and young people. If in the course of carrying out the duties of the post-holder becomes aware of any actual or potential risks to the safety or welfare of children in the school he/she must report any concern immediately to the School's Child Protection Liaison Officer, Deputy Head- Director of Boarding or the Headmaster.

The grounds of the School are not fenced and there is no way of controlling members of the public accessing the site or of pupils leaving it without approval. There are also a number of natural hazards in the grounds including lakes and woodlands. Whilst on the School's grounds you have a responsibility to keep a lookout for members of the public entering the grounds and posing a threat to the pupils as well as any pupils taking part in activities on the lakes or other areas that could put them at risk. When you are away from the School you continue to have an obligation to monitor the behaviour of any pupils away from the School and provide assistance to them if necessary.

The job may involve any or all of the following specifications. Above all, there is an expectation of a figure who is generous with their time and responsive to the needs of the students. The list is neither definitive nor exclusive and the range of tasks would embrace many incidents and situations which are not stated, but require initiative to be applied.

Allocation of Boarding Hours

Subject to the above, the Resident Non-Teaching Tutor will have one full day off duty in the week and will undertake 45 hours per week of boarding duties, which consist of the following:
