

EDINBURGH HOUSE

Edinburgh House is a Senior boys Y7-11 house, and is run by myself, Mr Owen Dyson. I live in the house with my wife, Clare; our two children; and our cat and dog, Zillah and Ellie.

My family is an intrinsic part of Edinburgh House, something I hope makes every boy feel part of an extremely extended family here.

The matriarch of our extended family is our House Matron, Mrs Smith. We have two resident tutors who serve as excellent role models to our boys. In addition, we have a number of teaching tutors who also do duties in Edinburgh House. All in all we have a really diverse, caring and experienced staff team.

Our over-arching aim for every boy in Edinburgh House is to leave us with the skills and knowledge to be a 'good' man in the future. While this is a very broad aim, we focus on instilling a sense of decorum in all boys - ensuring they know how to conduct themselves in any situation in life. Equally, we wish to have a community in Edinburgh House that is tolerant and accepting. Imparting the importance of these words to our boys and helping them to embody these principals into their day-to-day lives is something we continuously strive for.

Regardless of parental background, educational ability or financial situation—every boy in Edinburgh House is welcomed into our family from the moment they step through our door and we hope that they feel the Edinburgh House is their home during term time.
